WALTER SNOWDEN, ROCHFORD BRIDGE FARMER, WINS $85,000

Favorite Captures Big Race

NEWMARKET, Eng., Oct. 28.—Sir Abe Bailey's Dan Bulger, the established favorite, today won the Cambridgebridge second and laurest third.

By SPUD MURPHY
Sir Abe Bailey's Dan Bulger galloped home at the head of a field of 22 in the Cambridgebridge Wednesday morning, and Walter Snowden's vigil was ended at the Bullfinch office as he witnessed the flashing of the news that he had won $85,000. The day was doubly important as it was his 31st wedding anniversary.

He showed little excitement as the news unfolded on the telephone. "He's home," he said, "I sort of thought he wouldn't fail. That's about all of it, and the champagne I drank of last night carried him through."

BACK TO WORK
Asked what he intended to do with the major prize money, Snowden said he was going back to work, and to think about his good horse.

His wife and two daughters, Myrtle and Jean, who were with him at the Bullfinch office, shared the half hour wait for the flash of the result. When the winner was posted on the Creed machine, a film of tears passed over Mr. Snowden's eyes, but that was the only trace of emotion.

The prize money said a word, but they eyes showed their joy at their father's good luck. What he did not anticipate any wild cry of spending. Throughout Tuesday morning he was waiting for the word that he would become of his beauty parlor business, and that he would be able to be away, and they will be pleased if they can get service.

INCognito
The family spent a quiet day in Edmonton Tuesday, registered at a local hotel under an assumed name.

BONDMAN WILL LAUNCH PROBE CITY FINANCE

Hancock Here Friday—Mayor Says Bond Rate Is Election Issue
J. A. Hancock, representing bondholders of Edmonton's water works, will arrive in this city Friday morning to commence an investigation into the civic financial position in connection with the water works. Mr. Hancock is at present in Calgary where he is assisting in an inquiry into the water works financial affairs.

As Calgary made application to the Board of Public Utility Commissioners for a cut in the bond interest rate, the survey in this city is being directed by Judge A. A. Carpenter, chairman of the board, and assisted by Mr. Hancock.

NO APPLICATION

Edmonton, however, has made no such application to the board, and Mayor Joseph A. Clarke, R.C., took the stand Wednesday that Judge Carpenter would not figure in the local investigation. Mr. Hancock conducting the inquiry here.

"Edmonton takes the position that if bondholders refuse to voluntarily accept a lower interest rate, the provincial government should be asked to proclaim the defaulted bonds as legal tender, and to pass legislation which sets three per cent. as the maximum interest which may be collected on municipal debentures," Mayor Clarke declared.

"I'm referred to in my November 1 plan to continue my fight in this direction. Of course, if those opposed to drastic action in order to relieve taxpayers of exorbitant bond charges are able to take this attitude I plan to take it, and I will let them know that I am."

"Some municipalities in Alberta appear to be opposed to a reduction in interest rates, and if they elect to, ask the government to proclaim the defaulted bonds as legal tender, and to pass legislation which sets three per cent. as the maximum interest which may be collected on municipal debentures," Mayor Clarke declared.

U.S. Goes To Polls Tuesday

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The United States election on Nov. 3 will decide the fate of the Canadian-American reciprocal trade agreement, which has been in the hands of the Senate for some time, and probably the prospect of an early start at the St. Lawrence seaway.

As the campaign drew toward a close today, the major presidential candidates were on record on these questions as follows:

Franklin Roosevelt—"Trade is not a one-way street. There cannot be a revival of foreign export without a revival of foreign import. The question of the St. Lawrence seaway is a question of the future of the St. Lawrence valley."

Governor Landon—"The reciprocal trade program sold the farmer down the river. We can be a good neighbor without giving away the land."

On the St. Lawrence deep waterway.

Roosevelt—"That project will be carried through to completion as far as God made it right."

London (1934)—For the past 15 years this undertaking has been visualized, discussed and generally accepted as a major means for permanent industrial and agricultural uplift to the entire nation. . . .

REFERRED TO IT

The Republican nominee referred to that statement, and when the Senate two years ago, when the National Security Council recently passed a bill to create a committee to study the St. Lawrence seaway, he said, have not changed. He disclaimed "reporter" he did not promise the election of the St. Lawrence seaway, and mentioned "more pressing problems."

Roosevelt sought to push the treaty through congress last year, but it was defeated in the Senate. He has expressed hope that with amendments it will gain approval.

His secretary of state, Cordell Hull, last night advocated early ratification of the seaway, and said that the locked power project so construction might start during 1937.

Request for $3,500,000, to Meet Obligations Due Here On November 1, Tossed Out

Loan of $3,500,000 requested by the province in a wire to Graham F. Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, sent on Tuesday evening by Hon. Charles Cockcroft, provincial treasurer, has been refused. This refusal was contained in a wire received by Hon. Mr. Cockcroft on Wednesday morning.

The loan had been requested in order to meet two maturities, one of $1,250,000 due on Nov. 1, and one totalling $2,250,000 which was due on April 1 and on the principal of which the province had defaulted.

WILL WEAR AGAIN

Hon. Mr. Cockcroft did not release the text either of his wire to the governor, nor the text of the refusal received from the Bank. He stated that he would wear the Dominion suit during the afternoon.

Nature of his second wire was not disclosed, but it is expected that it will be setting forth the urgent nature of the loan.

Should the Bank of Canada remain adamant and the province fail to obtain the loan, the province is undoubtedly will be forced by two means to continue to default on the Refunding Act, which provides for a reduction of interest on provincial securities to three per cent and for the re-issue of the securities in the form of bonds.

The government, it is understood, at present has no consideration. The question of whether a commission should be set up, such as a suggestion of the recent House of Commons report, with the subject of "the St. Lawrence seaway" and the expectation of a further default or whether to proclaim the Refunding Act null and void.

On the St. Lawrence deep waterway.

Roosevelt—"That project will be carried through to completion as far as God made it right."
